MICHIGAN PLANS DRIVE FOR MEN FOR SHIPYARDS

Navy Department's Call for Help to Be Answered by Vigorous Campaign.

STATE HAS GREAT RECORD

Exceeds Almost Every State in the Union in Contributions of Men and Officers to Navy-State Has Two Distinguished Officers in Service.

The illness of Col. Theodore Roose velt has postponed the date for start ing the great drive for naval shipyard enlistments in Michigan, but has not Blackened the efforts of the Wolvering state to make preparations to go over the top in answer to the navy department's call for help.

The start of the Michigan drive was to have taken place in Detroit on Febretary Daniels and Commandant Truman H. Newberry in attendance. This official beginning will be delayed a reek or two on account of the colonel's illness.

Meantime Governor Sleeper on behalf of the state, Mayor Mary for the city of Detroit and all the mayors o other Michigan cities, together with the four-minute men, are preparing to bend every energy towards the success of the great drive in February and early in March.

The United States government Muskegon-That-the Continental Mo- cials have wired every newspaper editor in Michigan as follows: "You can render great patriotic service to the United States shipping board by helping along drive for enrolling two hundred and fifty thousand United States shipyard volunteers.

Michigan has exceeded nearly every state in the Union in its contributions of men and officers to the savy. In the upper peninsula Menominee county is reported to have given a greater pro portion of young men to the navy than any county in all the states.

Some half dozen of the leading cities in the state are trying to arrange to be included in the tour of the Roose velt-Daniels-Newberry party, and the newspapers are with one accord backing the efforts to recruit shipbuilders carpenters and mechanics for the naval service.

The two peninsulas of Michigan each hold a distinguished honor in the Unit ed States navy. From Detroit Presiof the Navy Truman H. Newberry as commandant of the Third Naval district, including the port of New York, giving to the Detroit man the highest promotion in the country in the sula Curry S. Bolsheviki Perplex the Germans by Abandoning the War Without Signing Treaty-Ukraine Makes Separate Peace-All Ready for West Front Offensive.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

President Wilson believes Count Czernin meant what he seemed to say In his recent speech on peace, and still hopes Austria-Hungary may be separated from Germany and that the war may be brought to an end without a great deal more of fighting.

Premier Lloyd-George believes that in its real substance the Czernin ad dress was as uncompromising as that of Chancellor von Hertling and that the allied war council at Versallles was right when it declared peace must be won by force of arms.

In his address to congress on Monday Mr. Wilson enunciated the four cardinal principles to which he said the enemy must agree before general peace pourpariers can be begun. Brief-

--- FAR ---Though halled as a sign of wookening by most of the Teutonic press, the president's speech is not so regarded by his fellow countrymen. Many of them may believe he is overoptimistic concerning Austria, as does Lloyd-George, but they accept at its face value his statement of the nution's determination not to stop fighting until the results he demands have been achieved. They feel no harm can result from leaving open the door to possible negotiations with any one of the central powers provided there is noletup in our war preparations because of the bare chance that they may not be needed. Premier Lloyd-George's stand in sup-porting the "kersoilles council and maintaining secreey concerning the plans decided on by it was indorsed by parliament, which gave him a vote of confidence by an overwhelming majority.

The German press warns Mr. Wilson

again that his efforts to separate Germany and Austria-Hungary will be futile and calls his references to American mobilization mere bluff, The kaiser, it may be noted; also delivered a speech, in which he said any neuce must be preceded by an admission of German victory.

- -The outside world is not permitted to know much of what is going on in but such information as does scape the censor really indicates that resident Wilson may not be far astray in his hopes. It is said Austria hows increasing returnance to sending her troops to fight against the British and Americans in France. The Berliner Tageblatt admits that the inter that government "is no longer possible. since the Czechs, Jugo-Slavs and Poles form an important majority, against

According to an American correspon nt in France, the peace program of Hindenburg, Ludendorff and the crown orince, forced on Von Kuehlmann and the emperor, includes the extending of the East Prussian frontier, making an autonomous protectorate of the Bultic provinces, dismembering Belgium and annexing or otherwise controlling the Briey-Longwy industrial region northern France. The question of-Poland apparently is left to Austria.

Meanwhile Trotzky and his holshe-vik comrades have handed Germany n hard nut to crack. Flatly refusing to sign a peace trenty, they declared the war with the central powers, so far as Russia is concerned, has ended. They decline to fight longer against the workers and pensants of Germany and Austria. Simultaneously, the complete lemobilization of the Russian armic was ordered, although it was reported that this order was immediately countermanded and that the reorganization of the Red guard was begun. At first of the Red guard was begun. At first Switzerland is growing very nervithe people of Germany and Austria our with fear that the kaiser will dehalled this great "victory" with extravagant joy, but in a few hours they and their governments began to wonder what it would avail them. They cannot obtain trenty recognition for their intended annexations on the east front, and they are far from sure that it will be safe to move to the west all or nearly all their troops. As the bolshevik leaders long ugo admitted, the Teutons' can-easily-push a long way into Russin, but what ultimate good will that do them? But the Roumanians defler ser, declaring they still had un shaken confidence in their allies and would continue to fight to the finish Their armies now occupy all of Bessa-rabin, where they have repeatedly defeated the bolsheviki troops. It is believed they were nerved to take this determined stand by prospects of an alited offensive in the Balkans which they might aid by attacking the Bulgarians and Austrians from the north. There are increasing evidences that such a drive, to cut off Turkey and reduce Bulgaria, is contemplated. A new Roumanian cabinet is headed by Generul Avarescu. ---In southern Finland, where the Red guards are still holding out against the covernment, horrible conditions pre vail. Murders and all other crimes are committed openly and the holsheviki, are running annuck. Sweden still fears to violate neutrality and send help to the government. Recent reports from Stockholm said certain Red guard lenders had asked General Mannerhelm to consider peace pegotiations.

There is little to say of the Italian front except that the fighting there was mulnly by the artillery and aviators and that neither side had any marked advuntage.

Seemingly the stage is set for Germany's supreme military effort on the west front, and Field Marshal von Woyrsch, the invader of Poland in

During the war and luring his presidency he visited the place occasionally, but only for a few days at a time.

Some delightful glimpses into this happy home life are given by Paul Wilstach in "Mount Vernon," published by Doubleday, Page & Co.

WHEN George Washington became master of the Virginia mansion. It was not nearly so large as it is today, for he built the banquet hall on the north, the library on the south, the third story, the verandas, colonnades, piazza and tower, the great barn an many of the other outbuildings, be ddes laying out and planting the gar-

Washington i winter often made his own fire in his library, and there, over his correspondence_and_accounts,_dld_an_immense amount of work in a few hours. Mrs. Washington rose when he did and directed the beginning of the day's domestic duties into easy and ordered channels. After breakfast he rode out on one of his horses to overlook the laborers on the various farms into which he divided Mount Vernon estate and returned, according to Custis, punctual as the hand of a clock, at a quarter to three . . . and retired

BEFORE the Revolution Mount Vernon bore its share of the pen-handed hospitality which distin-uished Virginia colonial life. The brief call of visitors, whose home base s near by, was practically unknown. Distances were great, travelers came with their own coach and horses and servants, and an arrival meant additional places at the master's table and in the servants' hall, additional beds, and stabling and feed for from six to twelve horses. It was part of the flexlble, cordial social & stem, and the was divided, into three perl- hospitality and providing was on a ods: (1) From 1752, when as large scale. Not only was gambling on a moderate scale considered a fashionable diversion, but the family at Mount Vernon patronized the lotteries on various occasions."

HERE are some extracts from the diary of John Hunter, a London merchant, who spent a day and a fight at Mount Verion in 1785:

"The general came in again, with his hair neatly powdered, a clean shirt on, a new plain drab coat, white waistcoat and white silk stockings. At three dinner was on the table, and we were shown by the general into another room, where everything was set off-with a peculiar taste, and at the ame time very neat and plain. The ceneral sent the bottle about pretty freely after dinner, and gave success to the navigation of the Potomac for his toasts, which he has very much at heart. . : ."

"We had a very elegant supper about that time. The general with a few glasses of champagne got quite merry, and being with his intimate friends, laughed and talked a good deal. Before strangers he is generally ery reserved, and seldom says a word

"When the gentlemen of the Alexandria assemblies sent their polite in-vitation to the general and his wife for their winter dances he replied that his dancing days were over. But he drove up to town, frequently for visits that included a duck dinner at Mine Host Gadsby's City hotel, a review of Captain Piercy's Independent Blues, and the casting of his last vote. The poliing place was up a flight of outside steps, sorrickety—that—when—the—huge-form—of the general approached their foot, the bystanders, apprehending danger to him, with silent and spontaneaus accord braced the stairway with their shoulders as he mounted, waited there until he descended."

N. 1814, when the British fleet sailed up the Potomac, they saluted Mount Vernon instead of destroying it. The place was bought in 1850 by the Mount Vernon Ladies' Association of the Union. At that time the only objects in the house that had been associated with its immertal owner's life were the key of the Bastille, the clay bust which Houdon modeled, a plaster bust of Lafayette, the old globe in the library and some camp equipment. During the Civil war Mount Vernon was by spontaneous consent of both sides the only neutral ground in the country. Soldiers left their arms outside the gates and "men in blue and men in gray fraternized before the of the father of their divided country."

GENERAL WASHINGTON IN THE FIELD

Nation Does Well to Honor the Memory of the Founder of -Its Glorious State of Independence.

F we today lived in a colony, ground down by unjust laws, our passion for national life secretly and tragically burning, if Washington-had failed, had died in vain for the cause which in fact he brought to lasting triumph—then for poor sentimental hu-manity he would shine with a luster greater than now is his, writes Joyce Kilmer in the New York Times. His nuse triumphed; the dream became a reality, and therefore lost the charm of the dream. Washington, dying on his bed, in his honored old age, his hones realized, is a noble figure. But he lacks the dramatic appeal of Washington bidding farewell to his children at the foot of the gallows.

By some strange perversity of hu-man nature the cause we consider romantic and picturesque is always a Lost Cause. The names most deeply loved are those of the fallen leaders whose partisans met with defeat-Robert Bruce and Robert Emmet, Wiliam Wallace, Sarsfield and Sobleski, that "fair and fatal king," Charles I. and his persecuted and uncrowned heirs. Children of Union soldiers though we may be, our hearts beat more quickly at the thought of Lee gled Banner," but we rise and shout Union, when it plays "Dixle," of the

as the Father of His Country we do so "France—The moon, whose with a laugh, as if the phrase were empty thetoric instead of sublime rath. Liege means more to us than Lexington, and remembering Edith Cavell, we give no thought to Jane McCres.

We may well thank God that the var of American independence has not the glamor of battles fought in vain. ant our freedom is no lost cause, that Washington's halo is not that of a nartyr whose life and death were un availing. To those who look at the vorld's events in true historical perspective, without sentimentality and with love of justice and freedom in their breasts, the American Revolution fills the most encouraging page in the chronicle of the centuries. But for most of us it is only in times of stress like the present that we can come to an actual sense of our exceptional privileges to a realization of the radiant truth of the stories we read in our history book in school. This year the Declaration of Independence takes on -clearer-significance; we know, as we did not in bygone years, what it means to be free and independent states, absolved forever from all allegiance to foreign nowers -- And so this vent Washington's birthday is no routine holiday, but a day of solemn yet joyful commemoration, a day on which we honor with full hearts him who made us a nation, the warrior whose sword cut the bonds of our thralldom, the statesman who bade us, avoiding entangling alliances, go our free way, an ndependent republic, no nation's sycophant, no nation's tool, "With malice oward none," said Washington's greatest successor, "with charity for all." It was a summing up of Washington's own political creed. No lost cause nowever glorious with the blood of nartyrs, seems today so noble as the triumphant cause of American inlependence. Valley Forge Will For All Time Be Held in Glorious Memory by Americans.

FALLEY FORGE is a name emotions in every reader of the Revolutionary story, appealing to the depth of the pathetic in us by their sufferings and to our sublimest sense by their fortitude. That winter at Valley Forge surpasses the retreat from Moscow, for the American heroes and their great commander en-dured through the long winter instead of fleeing,

"How comes it, sir," said Washington to the officer as they marched into the valley, "that I have tracked the murch of your troops by the bloodstains on the frozen ground? Were there no shoes in the commissary's stores, that this sad spectacle is to be seen along the public highway?"

The officer replied: "When shoe

Washington's Noble Mother The mother of Washington is entitled to a nation's gratitude. She taught her boy to principles of obedience and moral courage and virtue, She, in a great measure, formed the character of the hero and the statesman. It was by her own fireside that she taught her boy to govern himself, and there was he prepared for the brilliant career of usefulness which he afterward pursued. We are indebted to God for the gift of Washington, but we are no less indebted to him for the gift of his inestimable mother. Had she been a weak, and indulgent, and ungies of Washington might have elevated him to the throne of a tyrant, or youthful disobedience might have pre-pared the way for a life of crime and a dishonored grave. Byron had a mother just the reverse of Lady Washington, and the character of the transferred to the son .- John C. Gunn, M. D., 1866.

MANY SIMPLE WAYS FOR TESTING CORN

Unusually Poor Quality of Seed Stock Makes Germination Tests Necessary.

SAVE MONEY FOR FARMER

Determining in Advance Whether Kernels From Given Ear Will Grow Prevente Planting of Dead Kernels.

East, Lansing, Mich.—"How will I test my corn?" This is a query which many Michigan farmers who are well aware of the poor condition of the seed supply of most of the state this year are asking themselves as the time for planting draws nigh, for if there ever was a season when corn should be thoroughly tried out before & is put moisten-inte the ground the present is surely kernels.

No seed should be planted without a careful germination test first being made—though owing to the scarcity of dependable seed this year all corn that ws even a small number of ears with kernels that will germinate should worked over by the car test method so that all good ears can be conserved for seed and those of low germination discarded.

Michigan know how to make a germination test, but a survey of actual practice discloses the fact that less than 10 per cent of the farmers make use of this knowledge—that is, not more than one in ten runs germination tests. Even in average seasons, how eration which returns to the farmer an exceedingly high profit considering the small amount of time and expense involved.

But during the present season it is solutely necessary that tests be made. Begin testing now to ascertain he condition of your seed corn. With seed corn at a premium and a sourcity ertain, it is of the atmost importance tion towards moistness-so it is necesthat organized effort be put forth to sary, lest we be charged with malign-insure the trying-out of all seed. The ling Michigan, to disavow any intention agricultural classes of country schools, roperly organized, can with little of fort do this in their respective communities. Testers are easily made, and boys and girls can perform the work efficiently, if properly instructed, In fact, women and young people with deft hands und quick eyes can often do better work in making germination tests than their elders. Farm women who read this article can also be of immense help in insuring a good crop of corn next year if they will keep at their husbands until they induce them to test their seed sypplies. Sand-Box Method.

There are many shaple methods of anaking germination tests, all of which are effective. One of the best known is the sand or earth-box method. The materials needed are a small, shallow box, say 20 by 20 inches, about three inches deep, or the bottom of a dry eep, or the bottom of a dry erous creatures of the poultry world, but they develop thely bodies quickly. Having the box, it should be filled to a depth of two inches with moist-sand or earth. Tacks can then be driven along the edge, or notches cut at people think that ducks must have ponds, takes or fivers upon which to live and thrive well, but the idea is a intervals of two inches and the box-then divided off into two-inch squares mistaken one. Ears of corn to be tested are numbered by tying a tax to each ear or by drinking fountains for their flocks. edges of the box are then numbered to orrespond with the numbers on the Three kernels are taken from ears. Three kernels are taken from each ear, one near the butt, one from the middle, one from near the top, turning the ear as the kernels are extracted with a penknife. These kernels are placed point down, germ face up, in squares to correspond with the nuber of the opr squares are filled, about a half-inch of moist sand or earth is placed over the cornels and the tester placed in a warm-room. In about ten days it will be ready to read. The ears of strong germination will show three strong shoots to each square. Of course, the dead kernels will fail to sprout. In reading the test the numbers of all squares carrying three strong shoots are taken and these cars are preserved for seed, all others being discarded.

The Sawdust Box Test. A box similar to that used in making the sand-box test is needed for the sawdust test. About two inches of sawdust, moistened in warm water, s placed in the bottom of this box, and over this sawdust a cloth marked of into two inch squares is smoothed, The ears are numbered and six kernels tity soon drives out of the market the from each ear are placed in a square producer of a rich milk.
